Free Bus Service To Correctional Centers Now Available To DJJ Families

A visit from a family member is one of the most supportive and meaningful things you can do for your son or daughter while he/she is away. We at the Department of Juvenile Justice understand how frustrating it is to want to visit your child at a juvenile correctional center, but you don't have a car available, or it's just too far to drive.

That is no longer a barrier, thanks to a partnership DJJ has forged with VanGo Transportation Services. Every month on a Sunday from one of the two locations listed in the box below, VanGo will provide a clean, modern shuttle bus operated by a courteous driver that will take your family in relaxing comfort to DJJ's Bon Air Juvenile Correctional Center during regular visitation hours.

There is no cost to you. All you have to do is arrive at the appointed time at the location noted at left, get on board, sit back and enjoy the ride. We'll take care of the rest. Your child's parole officer will tell you which location is served on which Sunday.

Since there are limited seats on each vehicle, we do ask that you call at least five days in advance of your visit to reserve a seat. Families must provide a car seat for small children.

Thank you for staying involved in your child's life.
